

Mansion in May 1999 — Knox Hill

Morris Township, New Jersey

Sit down and relax for a few minutes in this intimate courtyard outside of the kitchen. Listen to the sounds of water playfully splashing over the Iris fountain, and smell the fragrance of the May flowering perennials in the morning's breezes. Notice the details of the old building's architecture: the slate roof, the hand cut woodwork and the old stucco walls, accented by the cast stone medallions and iron trellis. Rest your eyes on the textures and colors of the garden's soft plantings, lit with sunlight filtered through the leaves of the old sugar maple tree. Enjoy a quiet break in our Iris courtyard.
